

Why is being a chorister good?

It's free!

Music is a big part of church worship so joining a choir is a great way to feel involved!

You gain lots of valuable skills through something you enjoy – musical skills and others too, such as teamwork.

You can work towards RSCM awards to gain a sense of achievement and confidence (and medals!).

You can spend time with people who share some of your interests and make friends.

It's fun!

There are churches all across the country so there is always an opportunity near you.
